Recorder

DVD-R/-RW recorder lets you record TV shows and transfer home video to a DVD disc using your choice of write once (-R) or rewritable (-RW) media

Front DV input: The DV input on the front panel lets you edit and record from a digital camcorder directly onto a DVD disc through a single cable—without losing image quality.

EVQ (Enhanced Video Quality) lets you enjoy enhanced picture quality on your TV. The sharper images and truer color reproduction provide an improved viewing experience for movies and home videos.

Progressive scan output scans individual picture lines in sequence rather than alternately, maximizing the clarity of digital images and bringing new realism to your DVD viewing experience.

Timer recording automatically starts and stops recording at time and date set by the user.

Auto clock set automatically sets the month, day, year and time when the unit is connected to a cable or antenna and is turned off.
